Board of Health and Doctors Better Acquainted

SINCE LAST NIGHT'S MEETING

J. J. Purinton Delivers an Interesting Address, and Dr. W. A. Hobbs Replies For the Physicians—Ideas Suggested For the Welfare of Both Bodies and Promotion of Health to the Community.

There was a fair attendance at the meeting of the board of health and East Liverpool Medical association held in Attorney Purinton's office last night and the attitude of one body toward the other was fully explained. Mr. Purinton spoke as follows on the part of the board:

The boards of health under the laws of this state are invested with powers that are of the widest and most complete character, aiming, as they do, to place no limitations whatever upon such a body, whenever, in the judgment of the board, the emergency exists for calling into force these laws. It is thereby clearly demonstrated that the health of the community is of the highest and most vital importance to the welfare of the commonwealth. That no matter how drastic the remedy where life and health are in jeopardy, that remedy shall have the power back of it to enforce it. These powers, with their breadth and completeness, carry with them a corresponding increased responsibility upon those who are endowed with the power of enforcement, in that they shall be judiciously exercised and not made to serve the baser nature of power and autocracy, and in no case to be used to subvert individual desires nor satisfy personal pique.

A board acting under a due and just apprehension of its powers and corresponding responsibilities can be the means of doing untold good to a community and can rejoice in the knowledge that its efforts are the means of bringing increased happiness, prosperity and health to fellow man. Its acts should always be aimed solely and alone in the interest of the community as a whole, and when it deals with an individual family or association of persons, they should simply be used as the medium for benefiting the whole. It is the violation of this rule that will surely lessen the power and standing of any body. Public bodies are public servants and not servants of the individuals of the public. The disgrace and reproach that is today heaped at our municipal governments throughout the land is but the same offense expressed in other words. The care of the individual or family in all matters pertaining to health devolves upon and is properly the duty of the family or attending physician; that is, when outside help is needed at all. And his scope of action or freedom should in no wise be limited or circumscribed, except in so far as it may reflect upon the public as a whole. The physicians, calling may properly and justly be regarded as the most noble calling amongst men, saving only and always the calling as Christ the physician of physicians. It is he, the physician, to whom we flee from relief from our own violations of the laws of nature; it is he who applies the antidote that is to assist tired nature in her travails. It is he who prescribes the soothing potion when feverishly within burns the fires of fever; who heeds not cold nor heat when suffering humanity calls; it is he to whom the rich and wealthy as well as the poor and outcast bow and lean upon, and has caused the light to shine through the darkness of pestilence. It was his midnight candle that conveyed the rays of hope into a sun of deliverance from the ravages of smallpox; that drove from the table the horrors of the knife and wrapped mankind into blissful ignorance of the incision, while even now he is preparing to relegate the ravages of diphtheria and consumption into things of the past. To say that he is paid for all this is a travesty upon truth; they are debts mankind cannot pay in money. It is from him the sanitarium and boards of health have drawn upon for their rules and laws. It is his deductions, free gifts to humanity, that are moulded into laws and prescribed codes to him and his colleagues by boards of health, and therefore why should there be aught but the greatest and most perfect harmony existing in any community between the medical fraternity and the health officials; certainly no reason why each should not be a source of strength and help to each other. And to me only one thing is necessary to insure this, and that is confidence in one another, and nothing can be more conducive to this than perfect frankness upon the part of each.

But it may not be out of the way to lay down as a condition precedent to this confidence of the physician in a health board a recognition of the former of sufficient breadth of character in the latter to insure fair treatment. Really this condition should in reality be an obligation upon the physicians themselves; that is, no one is so well able to advise the appointing power as to the personelle to go on a board as they the physicians. It is undoubtedly a strain upon this confidence, the necessity of all laws and orders being formed so as to provide for the quack, or the fact that a chain is never stronger than its weakest link; and not only the weak links of the present chain but the links that are liable to be added to it any day. It is unfortunate that the medical profession have as yet been unable to secure the necessary legislation to protect themselves from the itinerant pill vender. I trust I may not transgress my privileges when I undertake to pledge the board's support to any bill that the medical fraternity of the state may unite upon. The attitude of any board should be of the greatest friendship and accommodation toward the local physicians; every convenience should be afforded them in the performance of the duties imposed upon them by the state laws and local ordinance and no arbitrary action taken; the law only invoked upon the most manifest intended violation, all technical violations being totally ignored. For, while our state and local laws prescribe certain things that the physicians must report to the health authorities, it does not provide any recompense for the time and labor necessary for obeying these laws. Now, whether there is a good and sufficient reason for this, or whether it is an imposition upon the medical fraternity, I do not undertake to say, as that would lead to a discussion foreign to my subject. But this I do say: that this failure to provide should be a command to all health boards to study the convenience of the physicians, and make the time and labor necessary for the work as limited as possible. And, gentlemen, as no one is better able to determine whether the means provided by our local board comes within this suggestion as yourselves, who do the work, allow me to say, on behalf of our board, that we stand ready to make any changes your body should determine upon that will accomplish the spirit and intention of the laws, at the same time lessening your labor.

Now, briefly summarizing the various reports you are called upon to make, that of reporting contagious diseases holds first place, and is of the greatest importance, threatening, as it does, the entire community. Therefore, we consider it the duty of the physicians called to accept no risks whatever. If he be in doubt as to the true ailment, and that doubt has a contagious disease as one of the horns of the dilemma, we take it he should give the public the benefit of the doubt, and report it as contagious, at the same time indicating his doubt. Everyone can then be on his guard until the true nature of the complaint has developed itself. We are perfectly well aware of the natural and reasonable desire of the physician to shield the patients or his family from the least censorship and to mitigate in every way possible the vigor of the laws. We are also aware of the general antipathy of the individual to a card of any kind when anyone in the family is stricken, and that the physician is made a breakwater that must withstand the waves from both sides; and it is just. At this point it is convenient to have a scapegoat, and we are that animal fortunately provided for you. We trust the day is not far hence when the masses will realize fully the great benefits of isolation in other contagious diseases as well as in smallpox, and that the ounce of prevention is worth untold pounds of cure. We also hope the day is near at hand when the public as a whole will give up the idea that it is necessary for a child to have a routine of diseases, for when they do our death rate will be materially decreased and the race become more vigorous.

The board should give official sanction to these truths as given out by the medical profession and as far as possible insist upon their observance. The same with tuberculosis; you have I believe, generally decided that this disease is contagious and not hereditary in the generally accepted meaning of the word, and yet consumption carried away 20 of our people the past year without an effort on our part to prohibit the public from contagion. We want the "consensus" of your body's idea of the proper restriction to be placed on the individual in this disease. Recurring to the importance of giving the public the benefits of the doubt in contagious diseases and not the individual, I need only to recall the many instances when smallpox has firmly fastened its fangs on a community. The reporting of births by yourselves and midwives, while looked upon by many as a useless task and too often as a gross violation of individual liberty, is the only means of obtaining anything like an accurate record of births. I doubt not the honor is really due the physician of that city. It does seem to me that if assessors were retired of the duty of gathering the data and a portion of their recompense apportioned to the physicians, it would be more better spent.

The reporting of causes of death, while the duty of the physicians, we believe has been placed in such a form as to reduce the time and effect to the minimum, and if not it should be.

Doctor Hobbs, representing the doctor, spoke in this strain:

The duty ascribed to me of reading a paper before this joint body on "The attitude of the physicians to the board of health" must necessarily, from the very nature of the physicians duty as a humanitarian, be a short one. The physician can not have other than a kindly feeling toward, and a deep interest in a properly organized and well regulated board of health. Where the proper feelings exist the physicians and board should be as a unit, working together for the welfare of the community at large. The average citizen ordinarily has his full time engrossed by his business and social duties and does not become familiar with the myriads of bacteria and infusoria that sport in the waters of our beautiful Ohio, or the multitudes of microbes or ammalculae that constantly infest the air we breathe. Neither does he care to investigate the numerous parasites that are universally present in our food supply, nor acquire a knowledge of the natural laws of the propagation and dissemination of the germs of contagious and infectious diseases. These are all a source of imminent danger to human life and it is the duty of the physician to act conjointly with the board of health in reducing these dangers to a minimum. We should endeavor to purify our water supply by educating our people to the necessity of either getting a more pure natural water supply, or removing the organic matter from our present supply by filtration and oxidation, and not to substitute another and more dangerous source of infection, viz: the public drinking cup. We should act conjointly in endeavoring to secure a more pure atmosphere by proper disposal of garbage by furnace. We should act conjointly in urging upon the people the necessity of sterilizing all food supplies by boiling and thorough cooking. We should be firm in our determination to reduce the dangers of infections and contagious diseases by means of complete isolation and thorough disinfection. Paradoxical as it seems, the highest aim of the true physician is to give his best efforts to that which tends to diminish his business, viz the prevention of disease. The greatest field for original scientific research offered to the medical profession today, is prophylaxis or prevention medicine. It is in this field that scientific investigation has revealed the most brilliant results, and it is in this field that the board of health can render us the greatest assistance. How, then, can our attitude be other than of respect and esteem? We believe that the board of health (as in this instance) should be taken from the very best material in the city. We need on our board men of brains, as well as of influence—men whose minds are unbiased by the sanitary ignorance of our grandfathers or the politics of today; men who have some leisure and a great deal of inclination to read and capable of forming intelligent opinions; men with the courage to stand by their convictions, irrespective of popular comment or adverse criticism from our city fathers. The health officer should be a physician. He should be a man well versed in the history of infectious and contagious diseases and familiar with the avenues through which the contagion is disseminated. He should be acquainted with the latest discoveries in bacteriological research and the methods by which our food and water supply becomes contaminated. He should be a man of good standing in his profession and influence in the community. He should be conservative in principle yet firm in conviction. Not aggressive, yet active in response to duty, irrespective of party clan or politics. In this connection permit me to congratulate the board in securing the services of a man who possesses the above qualifications as

BROKE HIS SHOULDER

Judge Billingsley Had a Severe Fall.

IN GETTING ON A STREET CAR

In New York he Slipped—Judge McCarthy, of Canton, Will Adjourn Court Tomorrow, But May Go to Lisbon in a Week—Mr. Taylor Brought the News.

Special to the News Review.

LISBON, March 7.—When Hon. R. W. Taylor came home from the East today he brought the news that the reason Judge Billingsley postponed court was an accident. He attempted to board a street car, and in doing so slipped and fell. His shoulder struck the ground with such force as to break it, and injure him so that he was compelled to remain in his room. He expects to be able to come home in a few weeks, and resume his duties. Judge McCarthy will come from Canton tomorrow, and adjourn court. If possible, he will be back in a week, and if not, there will be no court for several weeks.

Condition of the Treasury.

Special to the News Review.

LISBON, March 7.—The result of the examination of the treasury shows that the balance of all the funds is $54,224.64. The amount of overdraft was $16,091.68, which, deducted from the original, leaves $38,132.96. The claims of John R. Martin in dispute amount to $2,114.40. If this is deducted from the other balance, there would be left $36,018.56. In addition to this, receipts have been presented and charged to Martin to the amount of $766.65. This leaves an actual cash balance of $35,251.91 in the different funds. Perhaps the most interesting of these is the building fund which at present contains $10,308.82. This is the money which will, in all probability, be used in remodeling the court house.

THE MUSIC WAS GOOD

And the Refreshments Were All That Could be Asked.

Fifth street rink was crowded to the doors last night, and the benefit concert for the Diamond well was successful in every particular.

The big building was decorated for the occasion, and the stage so arranged that all in the room could hear the excellent program. The tables were so arranged as to give the audience ample opportunity to patronize the refreshment stands. The announcement of the winners in the ticket selling contest brought out applause. The list showed that Henry Schenkel had 986, C. Swords 300, J. Hughes 85, J. Salmon 46, O. S. Johnson 26, E. Kline 54, Wm. Temple 20, Miss Kent 71 and Miss May Adams 4. The last two numbers of the program were omitted because of the lateness of the hour, but the delighted audience would gladly have heard them through.

The concert netted the committee about $225 which will enable them to keep the well in excellent condition for some time. The entertainment was well managed and reflected credit upon the enterprising business men who were in charge. The committee desire to return thanks to all who lent their aid.

CHOOSE A CAPTAIN.

Lieutenant Supplee Elevated Last Night.

The election of officers at the armory last night drew a larger attendance than has been seen in months. A caucus was held, and Lieutenant Supplee was chosen to fill the place vacated by the resignation of Captain Simms, and Sergeant Terrence was elected to the first lieutenancy. Sergeant Hanley presided at the meeting, and after the election was over called upon Captain Supplee for a speech. The gentleman told the boys that he was thankful for the honor, and passed around the cigars. He also informed them that there was much work to be done, and the company must be made a model. Lieutenant Terrence also replied to the call, and spoke pleasantly for a few minutes. The boys all feel that they must work, and make Company E a success.

In Good Condition.

Warren McCain returned last night from Akron, and finds that the cooper shop escaped with little loss, perhaps $50. The company have received some flattering offers to rebuild, the best being from the company who built the kilns. They offer to erect the factory at the lowest bid, take stock to the amount of $2,000, and wait for a year on half their money. The company will get about $12,000 insurance, and having $10,000 of good accounts on their books, are as well situated as could be asked. It is thought that the contents of some of the kilns will be saved, but until the debris is cleared away nothing definite can be said. The presses may be in good condition.

They Are Improving.

Albert Smith, the young man who had his thigh broken in the tangle when Faulk Brothers' horse and wagon went down on the icy streets six weeks ago, is able to hobble about with the aid of crutches. He is improving rapidly.

M. A. Adams, the hackman who has been confined to his home with an attack of malarial fever for several weeks, will soon be on duty again.

The child of Joseph Webb, Grant street, is improving from a serious illness.

David Orr, who was stricken with paralysis at his home in West End a few days ago, is somewhat improved today although his side is still paralyzed and his condition serious. The paralysis has left his hand to such an extent that that member is capable of slight pressure.

The little child of Special Officer Copstick, Bradshaw addition, was taken ill with spasms yesterday but is better today.

George Carey Married.

George Carey, the second baseman of the Baltimore club, was married last night at the residence of his mother on Third street to Miss Minnie Webster, an estimable young lady of this city. The ceremony was performed by Squire Travis, an old base ball chum of the groom, and was witnessed by a few friends of the interested parties. The happy groom leaves for Macon, where Mr. Carey joins his club, on Saturday, taking with him the best wishes of their many friends. Mrs. Carey will visit in Kittanning.

Ordering Extensions.

At the meeting of the board of water works trustees yesterday afternoon it was decided to take up a portion of the mains on Fifth and Sixth streets, and replace them with new pipe. The cause lies in the fact that the old wrought iron pipes have outlived their usefulness. Bills to the amount of $1,037.06 were ordered paid. The department is in good condition, and the officers have no reason to complain.

Bound to Court.

The case of Smith against Schneider came to a sudden end in the court of Squire Travis yesterday afternoon. A few witnesses were present, and the defendant was asked if he was guilty. He said that he did not assault Smith but simply told him that he would "cave in his face and throw him in the river." This was all the testimony demanded by the justice, and Schneider was promptly bound over to court with bail at $50.

Got the Contract.

Homer Laughlin and Superintendent Andrews, who now control the electric light plant at Wellsville, made a proposition to the council last night to light the town at the rate of $95 per year for each light. After some discussion the contract was made and ratified. This amount of business will enable the company to push along, and give Wellsville a good light.

Eight People Drowned.

Special to the News Review.

CINCINNATI, March 7.—The steamboat Longfellow bound for New Orleans with 100 passengers struck the pier of a railroad bridge here this morning, and sunk in 30 feet of water. Eight persons are reported drowned, and many were injured.

At the Grand.

"Rose Cottage" was presented by the Corse Payton troupe at the Grand last night and was the best play given this week. In spite of the big crowd at the rink the theatre was filled. Tonight two plays, "Devil's Web" and "Uncle Joshua Whitcomb" will be presented.

Blame it on the Wind.

One of the large windows in the storeroom lately occupied by A. S. Wallace on Broadway, was broken last night, and there being no one around at that time to see the accident all blame is laid to the wind.

Only a Rumor.

A story was going the rounds today that a well known potter and clubman had been sued by his wife on sensational charges. Investigation failed to reveal any grounds for the rumor.

SILVER IN OHIO.

Realizing the importance of a Republican stand on the money question and presuming that the Democrats will be for free silver, the Cincinnati Times-Star states its view as follows:

"The convention of 1894 dealt with this subject in a gingerly fashion. It made an effort, not successfully, to commit the party neither for nor against free silver. This dodge was displeasing to the great mass of Ohio Republicans. But the tariff was then the overshadowing, indeed the sole question. For the convention this year to repeat the mistake of 1894 might prove a serious embarrassment."

"Not only by the sound money principle of the party—a principle that has always been a fundamental one in the Republican creed—but also by the logic of political opposition, is the party in Ohio bound to openly and squarely meet the Democracy on the free coinage issue, to take up the gage of battle; and, as all history shows that 'he is thrice armed who hath his quarrel just,' the Republicans will have a decided advantage in the contest before the people. The reliance of the free coinage Democracy for success at the polls is upon a popular free silver opinion, which they think or profess to think, exists, and upon the claim that prosperity can be restored only by the 'rehabilitation' of silver. The Republicans can meet them on this ground and easily win the victory as they have done before in Ohio. For the Republican party of Ohio the path of duty is the straight path to victory. This does not lie through any concession to the clamor of the half-dollar advocates. It behooves the party to unhesitatingly and clearly favor the full dollar, honest money, the gold standard of value or a bimetallic standard based on an international ratio for coinage. Both principle and expediency require the sweeping away of all subterfuges or evasions that may be proposed in committee or in the convention and the adoption of a brief, direct resolution in favor of the standard money of the civilized world."

JURY HAS THE CASE.

Harry Hayward's Fate In the Keeping of Twelve Men.

CASE GIVEN THEM AT NOON.

The Morning Session Taken Up With Judge Smith's Charge and Erwin's Final Plea—The Attorney Attempts to Break Down the Evidence of Blixt.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 8.—The case of Harry Hayward, accused of the murder of Catherine Gine, went to the jury at noon today. The morning session was taken up with Judge Smith's charge and the finishing of Attorney Erwin's plea. The attorney has kept up one line, attempts to break down the evidence of Claus A. Blixt and incidentally that of Adry Hayward. He extolled the wonderful patience of Harry, and then said: "Was ever innocence so sorely tried in this world as this man's innocence?"

He alluded to the question of the alleged immunity promised to Blixt and Adry Hayward for the sake of convicting Harry. This, he declared, was a revival of the old and pernicious practice of turning state's evidence in vogue in England, and he called upon the jury to stamp it out. It has developed that in case of a conviction—which is confidentially expected by the state—immediate sentence will be moved. The defense, on the other hand, has made every preparation for a stay and an appeal in case of conviction.

Tortured by Four Men.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 8.—Five men disguised as whitecaps entered the house of Farmer George I. Wagner, in Extra township. They heated a fire-shovel red-hot and applied it to Wagner's feet, at the same time demanding all the money he had in the house. The farmer told them it would be found in a bureau drawer. The thieves broke open the drawer and secured $2.17. A hired man, named Johnson, was knocked senseless by a blow from the burglars. Mrs. Wagner and her little daughter were prostrated by fright.

A Boy Burned to Death.

BEVERLY, W. Va., March 8.—At Oak Grove, Charles Jones, 5 years old, got out of bed and ran to the fire in his mother's room to keep warm while dressing. While standing with his back to the fire, his night gown took fire, and before his mother could extinguish the flames he was burned to death. Mrs. Jones was badly burned about the arms, breast and face, trying to save her boy.

Bank Officials Indicted.

LEXINGTON, Va., March 8.—The grand jury has found indictments against C. M. Giggett, late cashier of the Bank of Lexington, for embezzlement; against R. K. Godwin, bookkeeper, for making false entries; and against C. W. Irvine for receiving money, knowing his bank account to be overdrawn.

LIMA, O., March 8.—William Price was left to die of smallpox in a railroad boardinghouse here. There was not an undertaker in the city that would bury him. Dr. Terwilliger and Nurse Morrison performed the service.

Sixty persons were exposed through Price and much excitement prevails. A number of those exposed are railroad men and Superintendent Husted of the C. H. & D. has ordered all employees to be vaccinated. Price had smallpox symptoms on his arrival here from Chicago.

Most Move Nitroglycerin.

COLUMBUS, March 8.—Deputy Shop and Factory Inspector Ducomb has been in the city in conference with Chief Inspector Knaub concerning the storage of nitroglycerin in the oilfields. Magazines for the storage of the explosive had been established in close proximity to schoolhouses in Fort Recovery, Mercer county, and Gibsonville, Sandusky county. An explosion, in the opinion of the officials of the department, would wreck the buildings and might cause serious loss of life. The owners of the explosives were directed to remove the glycerin. There was some objection to this from the owners, but the department will insist upon the removal of the magazines.

Assaulted by a Robber.

CLEVELAND, March 8.—Miss Tillie Hangel lies in a dying condition in the house of C. A. Dean, on the Mayfield road, in East Cleveland, a suburb, as the result of a murderous assault committed on her by a robber. While Miss Hangel was alone in the house a man came to the door and demanded all the money she had. The girl declared there was nothing of value in the house. This seemed to anger the robber and he attacked Miss Hangel with a sawn-off, fracturing her skull, after which he escaped. Physicians succeeded in restoring the girl to consciousness for a short time, when she related the story. She will probably die.

Bundy's Notable Reception.

JACKSON, O., March 8.—The reception to Hon. John H. Bundy, the father-in-law of ex-Governor Foraker, on his retirement from congress was a remarkable one. Toasts were responded to by Bundy and Ohio congressmen, Governor McKinley, ex-Governor Foster and ex-Governor Foraker, and others. All the state officers were present, also all ex-congressmen living who had represented that district. Mayor Caldwell, General Keifer, Judge Nash, Auditor Poe and other gubernatorial aspirants were present.

A Suspended Church Member Suicides.

WEST ELKTON, O., March 8.—John Block, a wealthy farmer, has suicided under sensational circumstances. He belonged to the Omish church, which is strong in that part of Preble county and prohibits members from suing each other. Block had business troubles with his brother-in-law and sued for his right. The brother-in-law carried the case to the church. Block was suspended from fellowship whereupon he jumped into his own well.

PITTSBURG, March 8.—The miners' strike, which has just been inaugurated, to secure a 60-cent rate for digging has affected 21,023 men. These figures are based on the reports furnished the mine inspector by each operator and are considered reliable.

At the miners' headquarters it was announced that all the mines in the district are idle, with the exception of a number that were not expected to join in the movement for a higher rate. These are the mines of the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal company, the Pittsburg and Chicago Gas Coal company and the mines of the Midway Block Coal company and the First Pool Monongahela Gas Coal company. The last two mines are owned by F. L. Robb, bin & Co.

The mines that are at work are credited with only 1,347 men, out of a total of 22,370 in the river and railroad districts. The strike does not affect the Vesta Coal company's men, as their product is not on the market. It is used by Jones & Laughlins in their mills. All the reports received by the miners' officials are of a very encouraging nature.

REBELS WIN AGAIN.

Another Defeat of Spaniards In Cuba.

SEVERAL KILLED, ONE WOUNDED.

Rebel Loss Not Stated—Killing of Manuel Garcia Denied—Garcia's Wife Led the Soldiers to Believe That a Dead Bandit Was Her Husband.

KEY WEST, March 8.—A report has been received here of an engagement near Santa Clara, Cuba, between a band of insurgents and a battalion of Spanish soldiers. The government forces, says the advices, were defeated with a loss of several men. A corporal was wounded. The rebel loss is not stated.

The killing of Manuel Garcia, the noted bandit, is denied. Garcia's band, on the day that he was reported killed, raided a store at Seba Mocha. After obtaining what they desired and were about to mount their horses, a volunteer, who was an acolyte in the church, and a regular soldier, both in civilian's dress, came up on the party. In the encounter one was killed by the acolyte, who in turn was killed, being cut literally to pieces. As there was a price on Garcia's head of $10,000 from the government and about $25,000 from the sugar planters in the vicinity, there was quite an incentive in claiming that the dead bandit was Garcia. Parties who have seen pictures of the dead bandit, taken and published after his death, assert that it is not the likeness of Garcia.

When Garcia's wife was asked by the soldiers to go and identify the body, she attired herself in black and went with them. When the party alighted at the station she put her handkerchief to her face and pretended to be sobbing. She then told them that she knew the body was that of her husband and there was no use to go to look at it. She did this to deceive the soldiers. It is stated that Garcia still lives in the vicinity of the place where he was reported to have been killed. This report comes direct from Seba Mocha by a gentleman who was there on last Thursday. Garcia is a much smaller man than Pepele Isleno, the man killed. The Cuban papers represented the deceased man as being large and broad-shouldered.

Walsh, Mrs. Maggie Perkins, Miss Jennie F. Walsh and W. B. Walsh and Amelia A. L. MORE IMPROVEMENTS.

The Sebring Company Increasing Its Capacity.

The two-story addition to the Sebring pottery is complete, and gives the company an addition of one-third in capacity. A new kiln will be built to keep in line with the improvement. A new toilet set to be known as the Alyce is ready for the market. Cartwright Bros. have a new toilet set in the Avalon, and a new departure in a mazarine blue, underglaze Windsor kettle. It is a beauty, and will doubtless attract a great deal of attention.

Waiting For the Boom.

The New York correspondent of a trade paper says that "business is a little better than it was, and collections are said to be slightly easier. The spring boom is yet to make its appearance." In referring to this a manufacturer said that the report applied to the importers as well as any other branch of the crockery trade. He believed that when they, with all their advantages, were unable to make trade boom, and the Liverpool potteries were doing so well, this city has just cause to congratulate itself on the present prosperity.

A Painful Accident.

At the rink last night a bottle of catsup on one of the tables was broken, and the fluid flowed to the floor. Mrs. Tony Bertele happened to pass that way a short time afterward, and, stepping into the stuff, fell. Her head struck a corner of the table cutting a gash several inches long. She was taken to a drug store, and Doctor Hobbs was summoned. He quickly attended to the injury, and the lady was taken home. She is better today, but the injury will keep her in her room for several days.

A Love Feast.

Mr. Editor:—The meeting between the board of health and the physicians last evening, was a failure so far as the physicians were concerned, only three out of the 22 or 23 being present, besides those connected with the board of health—something wrong. I think it would be a good thing to call another meeting and try to find out what it is, as it is an important matter to the city to have a proper understanding between the health officers and the physicians.

Donaldson Got Judgment.

W. B. Donaldson, president of the Steubenville Pottery company got judgment today in the court of Squire Travis against Edward Barrett, the amount involved being $60. His claim was for house and water rent, Barrett having been employed in the pottery at Steubenville. He came here, and securing a place moved his family without paying the debt. Two cases of this sort in as many days does not speak well for Steubenville.

Married on Monday.

Fletcher M. Massey and Miss Lucy Horton were married on Monday evening at the residence of the bride's parents on Lincoln avenue by Squire Travis. The groom is prominent among the operative potters, and Miss Horton is a well known young lady. They will reside in this city.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

A large number of persons went to Pittsburgh last night.

There will be an eclipse of the moon on Sunday night. It will be visible in this part of the world if the clouds keep away.

The dance of the Chevalier club in Bradshaw hall last night was largely attended and proved a delightful entertainment.

The plant which the Bridgewater Gas company will erect in the West End is to be commenced as soon as the weather permits.

The funeral of William Myers took place from the family residence in West End yesterday afternoon, and was largely attended.

Superintendent Andrews, realizing the increase in business following the introduction of summer cars, is a firm advocate of the improvement.

When the pony was switching near Cartwright's pottery the other day it drove a pole through the side of the building. The damage is slight.

The snow ball made life miserable for pedestrians last night. An arrest or two would put a stop to crowds of young men pelting every one so unfortunate as to pass their way.

Rev. A. C. Showers, of Oil City, Pa., district elder in the Free Methodist church, will preach at their hall on Sixth street, Friday and Saturday evenings and Sabbath morning, March 8, 9 and 10.

The last expiring gasp of the scheme to secure a doctor on salary for a large number of potters was found last night when one of the leaders in the move stated that the plan had been abandoned.

The East End Charity club held their final rehearsal last night and this evening will present two plays in Mechanics hall. A large number of tickets have been sold and many from the city proper will attend.

The missionary tea conducted by the ladies of the First Presbyterian church last evening was one of the most enjoyable affairs in the history of the organization. Upper was served at 6 o'clock, a large number of persons being in attendance.

Henry Schenkel, the fortunate contestant in the watch contest at the rink last night, sustained a sprained hand by a fall down stairs this morning. His friends are blaming the accident on the reaction following the excitement of his success, but Henry says it was a mishap pure and simple, but not very agreeable.

Perhaps the most peculiar loss ever known in the city was that of a trunk taken from the corner of Fourth and Washington streets one evening last week. It was put off a street car, and the motorman imagined that the owner would call at once. When the claimant came the trunk was gone, and has not yet been found.

A number of Akron men have come to the city the past few days, and say there is nothing new in the pottery situation there. Some of the men have been offered positions in other potters towns, and have accepted, in preference to waiting until the new plant is built. It is not likely that any of the men will return to this city.

A member of the police force was attacked by a dog on Third street yesterday afternoon, and knowing the animal to bear a bad reputation drew his revolver, and fired. He had no time to take aim, and the bullet sped on its mission only to strike the dog in the leg. The officer was glad to see the dog unable to do damage, but does not like to have his marksmanship spoken of.

Two characters who said they were walking across the continent passed through the city last night eastward bound. One was at least six feet in height, while the other would have been flattered had some one told him he was five. They begged supper from a lady on Sixth street, and told her they had not seen a cent of money for over a week, but she failed to open her purse. Both were gray, although the tall man did not look a day over 35 years of age.

The trolley pole of a street car broke on the Wellsville road last night, necessitating an uncomfortable position on top of the car for an employee during the rest of the trip. A brilliant display of sparks attracted general attention as the car sped through town, but it was at the power house where the fun was seen. Numerous attempts to land the car in the barn caused more trouble than has been seen in that particular part of town for a week.

A young potter of the city, who has many friends among people who know nothing of his various escapades, was called to a town not so far down the river that its name is unknown here to answer a charge made by a young woman of that place. He went, and adopting the advice of his attorney, took a prominent part in a wedding which was solemnized the next day. They will not live in this place, as the husband has decided to farm with his father-in-law.

health officer to so eminent a degree as Dr. C. B. Ogden. I believe he has the endorsement of every physician in the city.

Such a board cannot fail to compel an attitude of respect from the entire medical fraternity. Such a board cannot fail to release the physicians of a great deal of care and responsibility. To illustrate: In New York and many of our large eastern cities the board of health keep in their constant employ an expert bacteriologist. The physicians are supplied with small glass vials filled with liquid gelatine, or other culture medium. These vials are called culture tubes. When a physician sees a case of sore throat, no matter of what variety he may deem it, the law says he must make a culture. This is done by touching the throat with a small bit of absorbent cotton, and touching the top of the culture medium in the tube with the same cotton. The microbes thus gain entrance to the medium, and they there multiply very rapidly. The culture tube is then sent to the bacteriologist, who examines it microscopically. If the diphtheria germ or more technically speaking, the klebs loeffler bacillus is present, the case is considered one of true diphtheria, the house is quarantined and the physician is notified as to the nature of the disease. This gives the physician a complete diagnosis within 24 hours, and relieves him of all responsibility in regard to quarantine. While we, at East Liverpool, cannot hope to attain so great a degree of sanitary perfection, we can at least do the best we can as physicians. We can assist the board with our sympathy and influence, and when the council comes to realize that to have efficient sanitary surroundings requires large appropriations, we will have one of the most healthful as well as the most thrifty town in the Ohio valley.

Pull off with starch and gloss serene,
The linen collar starts the morn,
Pull off at noontime it is seen,
All wilted, wrinkled and forlorn.

That's what you must expect of such a collar; it's the linen of it. The stand-up collars won't stand up, and the turn-down collars will wilt down. The easy, cheap, and pleasant way out of this is to wear "CELLULOID" COLLARS AND CUFFS. These goods are made by covering linen collars or cuffs on both sides with "CELLULOID," thus making them strong and durable, and waterproof, not affected by heat or moisture. There are no other waterproof goods made this way, consequently none that can wear so well. When soiled simply wipe them off with a wet cloth. Every piece of the genuine is stamped like this:

Insist upon goods so marked if you expect full satisfaction, and if your dealer does not keep them, send direct to us enclosing amount and we will mail sample. State size and whether a stand-up or turned-down collar is wanted. Collars 25c. each. Cuffs 50c. pair.

CLEARING THE STREETS

No More Boxes on the Pavements.

ENFORCING AN OLD LAW

Acting Chief of Police Walter Supplee Notified Business Men This Morning That Obstructions Must be Removed by Tomorrow—Eradicating a Nuisance.

The unsightly boxes that have long been an eyesore to citizens will today disappear from the sidewalks, and an ordinance, almost forgotten, will be enforced.

This morning Acting Chief Supplee called upon business men in all parts of the city, and informed them that they had until tomorrow to obey the law. He explained that the ordinance permitted them to have four feet on the pavement for the unpacking of boxes, but no more than two hours must be consumed at any one time in the task. He also told them that they were allowed three feet next the window for the display of merchandise. Some merchants objected to other business houses having cases next the curb, and the officer told them that unless council would repeal the ordinance these, too, would have to go. One merchant laughed at the officer by piling a lot of boxes in the front of his window, and asserting that they were for sale. This being true, and the boxes occupying space allowed for exhibit, nothing could be done. The officer accepted the situation, and smiled with the merchant. From present indications, there will be few boxes around tomorrow.
